Mark McDowell's product icon

A close-up photograph of a dark, heavily distressed wooden surface, likely a piece of antique furniture. The wood is dark brown to black, with significant wear, scratches, and areas where the finish has been rubbed away, revealing a lighter, yellowish-brown wood underneath. A decorative metal pull handle, possibly brass or silver, is mounted on the wood. The handle has an ornate, scrolled design with a central loop and a base that flares out into a decorative, leaf-like shape. The lighting is dramatic, coming from the upper right, creating strong highlights on the worn edges and the metal handle, while the rest of the wood is in deep shadow.

Disclaimer: Selenite is a natural crystalline material with wide decorative appeal. By its sheer nature, imperfections such as other mineral deposits, which may appear as colored sections or varying crystalline structure, are not only expected, but indeed add to the beauty of the piece. The softness of selenite may result in separation of sections of crystal, which can be reattached with the use of a clear adhesive.

ACCESSORIES LEGEND

DISCLAIMERS

- d1* Selenite is a natural crystalline material. By its sheer nature, imperfections such as other mineral deposits, which may appear as colored sections or varying crystalline structure, are not only expected, but indeed add to the beauty of the piece. The softness of selenite may result in separation of sections of crystal, which can be reattached with the use of a clear adhesive.
- d2* Due to glazing process, variations in color will occur. No two will be identical.
- d3* Small cracks and variations in carving and finish may occur.
- d4* Variations in glass, size, shape, and color may occur.
- d5* The color and size will vary due to being a natural stone.
- d6* With handblown glass, variations in size, shape, and color may occur.
- d7* This is a natural horn product. No two will be alike in size, shape, or coloring.
- d8* Naturally aged and matured pottery salvaged from under the sea. Due to low levels of firing, these decorative pieces are recommended for indoor use. Coloration will vary.
- d9* Finish is hand-applied and variations may occur.
- d10* Due to manufacturing processes, variations in color will occur. No two will be identical.
- d11* These items are food safe.
- d12* Variations in shape and size are normal with natural quartz.
